Festival vision

The Australian Heritage Festival program in Victoria is coordinated by the National Trust of Australia (Victoria) (NTV) and delivers our mission as an independent community heritage organisation to inspire the community to appreciate, conserve and celebrate its diverse natural, cultural, social and Indigenous heritage.

The objectives of the festival are:

- To communicate how heritage values and Victoria's culture can enrich our lives
- To provide opportunities for communities, local government and organisations to celebrate Victoria's heritage
- To enable active engagement in the conservation and management of heritage places and values

The Australian Heritage Festival is Australia's biggest annual community-driven heritage festival. In Victoria the Festival is comprised of events from across the state organised by NTV staff, properties and Members Branches, community groups, local councils, individuals and other organisations. The NTV coordinates the registration of Festival events, promoting the program to a wide audience with an interest in cultural heritage.

2023 Heritage Festival Theme: Shared Stories

Cultural heritage is all about sharing our stories. Traditions, languages, places, objects, and buildings, what makes them so important to us without the stories of who passed them on, how they have touched our lives?

The Australian Heritage Festival is an opportunity to share with others our passions and fascinations, through tales of culture and heritage.

Organisations and individuals are encouraged to register events that tell the stories of who we are, celebrating the rich cultural heritage of Victoria's First Peoples, tales that tell of place, buildings, natural and cultural landscapes, storied objects, oral histories and cultural traditions.

The 2023 theme, Shared Stories, invites communities to discover people and places they wouldn't know otherwise, quirky and hidden tales about Victoria. We invite events that will engage with stories of our society that aren't always told, tales of women and their contributions throughout history, our state's agricultural and industrial past, and the impact that queer and migrant communities have had in enriching Victoria's cultural development.

We also invite events that reflect on topics that look to the stories of our future, including modernist theory and design, the role of heritage in urban planning and placemaking, community advocacy and activism, the adaptive re-use of places and spaces, and the role of social media and digital technologies in redefining our connection with the past.

Festival participants are encouraged to be curious and engage with tales of people, place and culture in new ways to explore the many facets of our identities, including what we eat and drink, what we wear, music and dance, popular culture, local landmarks, archives and collections, and arts and crafts, to produce a storied program about our state's cultural heritage. The festival is an opportunity to foster understanding of our shared histories and invite learning and participation in unfamiliar differences so that we might share more.

What should be included in the event description?

There are two sections to fill out in the event description. The first is your chance to tell visitors about your event. This information will be published in our online event directory. This should be a clear summary of your event in one paragraph on what audiences can see and do. There is a maximum of 50 words for this description. This will be shown on the online search event directory pages and at the top of your event page listing in larger type on the website.

You will also need to provide us a detailed description of your event. Tell audiences in more detail what they can expect at your event (max 150 words). This will be shown on the online full event page listing after your summary. Please do not repeat your summary.

We reserve the right to edit event descriptions for length, clarity, and editorial consistency.

What should be included for the location?

You must enter into an online Google Map where your event is located. It may be useful for you to confirm your exact address in Google Maps prior to registration. To do this you will need the venue postcode, street address, suburb, and state. You will also have an opportunity to provide us with any additional information about the event location such as tips or local markers to help visitors find you. You can also provide a meeting point if required. Please advise us of the accessibility of your event location or if there are any special requirements for entry.

What should be included for the admission price/s if there is any?

Whether your event requires purchasing a ticket, a gold coin donation, or is free entry, is completely up to you. If there is an admission cost, you'll need to let us know if there are different costs for adults, concession, children, family (two children & two adults) and for NTV Members. We encourage offering a discount for NTV members.

How do I include booking information?

Bookings are completely managed by you or your organisation, but please provide us with these details such as a booking email address or phone number, online booking link (e.g. Trybookings) and the limit on numbers of attendees. You'll also need to let us know how many attendees you expect to attend the event.

How do I provide a photo in the correct format?

The main photo will be displayed at the top of your online event listing and may be included in the printed program. To get the most out of your photograph it needs to meet the following specifications.

Landscape format, recommended size is 1920px wide x 616px high. It must be minimum of 1200px wide .	Up to 2MB.	Please name your file using the following naming format: event_title_AHF_2023.jpg	Please provide any image credits in the credit box during the registration process.

You must be the copyright holder of the image or have explicit written permission to use the image. The NTV accepts no responsibility or liability for breaches of image use permission and will use images on the assumption that event organisers have permission to provide the content we receive.

What makes a good event photograph?

Use captivating language in your description and active words. Tell people what unique experience they will have when they come to your event, what signature activities there are on offer and try to transport your audience to the time or community or place your story is about.

A picture says a thousand words – so we recommend providing engaging photography with a powerful and evocative subject as the central focus. Ensure there is a frame of space around your key focal subject so that when the image changes shape depending on the device people use (desktop computer, mobile phone, tablet) the image will retain its subject as the key item they see. Do not overlay any text across your photograph or provide photography with watermarks or dates.

If you don't have access to photography, we recommend seeking royalty free or creative commons images (such as at unsplash.com) that convey the essence of the experience your event will provide for participants.

You might seek out a photographer to take an event photograph for you. The State Library of Victoria also have a Digital Image Pool of over 200,000 amazing historical images. All images in this search pool are out of copyright or available to be used, as long as the creator and the State Library of Victoria are acknowledged. If you don't have an image, we recommend searching your region, event location or theme to find images here:

slv.vic.gov.au/search-discover/explore-our-digital-image-pool

What will my image be used for?

Please note that all photography sent for event registration will become the property of the NTV and may be used (in whole or cropped) in print, electronic and digital publications as well as on the official Australian Heritage Festival website and social media platforms. The image may be passed on to third party media to use only in conjunction with articles and advertising which directly promotes the event. Images uploaded as part of the registration are used in the online listing for each event.

Promoting your event

What does the NTV marketing team do to assist in promoting an event?

The 2023 Australian Heritage Festival program will be fully digital. Our Australian Heritage Festival team will promote the Festival to the National Trust's members and supporters, and feature selected events through social media channels including Facebook, Instagram and Twitter (45,000+ combined following), and e-news (30,000+subscribers). We will also develop a dedicated PR campaign to promote the Australian Heritage Festival through broadcast, print, and online media.

Event registrations for inclusion in our digital program and marketing campaign will close Monday 20 February 2023 and final event registrations will close Monday 10 April 2023.

What is the best way to promote my event?

Provide the best summary and event description you can, make sure it fits one of the outlined themes, tell us what makes it unique and let us know if there is a story to tell. Think carefully about the demographic and identity who will be coming to the event. Use this information to plan the communication channels you would like to promote with. We also suggest utilising free online listings, start with:

- Tourism Victoria: www.visitvictoria.com
- City of Melbourne: whatson.melbourne.vic.gov.au
- Event Finder: eventfinder.com.au

Reach out to the local community and media, send an email and post on your social media platforms with our official hashtags: #AHF2023, #nationaltrustvic. You might also like to create your own hashtag, based on your location, your organisation's name, or your event name or theme.

What imagery should we be using in promotional material?

Make sure it is eye catching and grabs the viewer's attention. Images must be of high quality and not be blurry or out of focus. Jpeg images must be at least 300dpi, 1MB so they offer good quality print but not too big to email. Landscape imagery is generally preferred. No text or watermarks should be over the image.

Writing a media release

Here are our recommendations:

1. Note that the event is part of the 2023 Australian Heritage Festival.
2. Keep the media release to one page (maximum 400 to 500 words).
3. Think of an interesting, short, clever and eye-catching headline that will immediately catch the reader's attention. This can also be included in the email subject line.
4. The body of the release should include some background information and a couple of quotes. The body should further convince people why they should look forward to attending the event.
5. The closing paragraph should include a call to action including the requirements to attend the event, details on admission, location, booking details and a link to where they can get more information about the event and the phone number that they can call.
6. Make sure to attach an attractive, good quality image. You may need to have a high-resolution version if the journalist requests it.
7. Have the most up to date contact details, including individual name, position, email, and phone number. If a journalist gets in contact make sure to respond in a timely manner.
